This is an AI free, Ad free (almost) and Cookie free website and does not generate any revenue. It now has https status. It has been in operation since 2006.

Most of the content is about topics that interest me and may be of interest to some others. Most of the html is written the long way, manually, with a text editor. The later content in the odds & ends section is written in Word and converted to PDF files mainly because it's easier (and has spell check).
